BOOTLEGGERS ARE BLAMED FOR BLAST AT LAWYER'S HOME

Macomb State's Attorney Near Injury in Bomb- ing of His Home.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Macomb, Ill., Nov. 23.—A bomb, thought to have been placed by members of a bootlegging ring, destroyed a portion of the home of Les Hainline, state's attorney here, at 10 o'clock last night. Hainline was cut by falling glass but no one was seriously injured. Houses within a radius of several blocks were shaken by the terrific explosion.

The explosive was placed under rear steps at the northeast corner of the house which is located in the residential section of Macomb. The bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Hainline is located on the second floor, directly above these steps. They were covered with shattered glass.

Detectives are working on the supposition that members of a bootlegging ring are attempting Mr. Hainline's life. He has prosecuted numerous cases within the last year although he had received no threatening communications, there was some hatred intimated.

PEORIANS SUSPECTED

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill., Nov. 23.—Acting on a tip that the Peoria gunners were hired to bomb the $20,000 home of State's Attorney Andrew L. Hainline at Macomb late last night, Peoria police are today making a search for those suspected. A telegram from Hainline to Chief of Police Edward Wombacher expressed belief that Peorians were involved and stated that a personal letter to the state's attorney would follow. It was intimated that the bombing was the result of a campaign of law enforcement.

Held as Suspect

Kelly Wagon is being held for questioning in connection with the bombing. He stoutly maintained his innocence, stating he had just returned from Chicago and was in Colchester, Ill., at the time of the explosion. He is being held on the theory that he is connected with a ring of members of which objected to the investigation of stolen cars by the state's attorney. He was arrested on a charge of being proprietor of a "fence" which handled stolen cars sent from Chicago to Macomb, early in September. At the time of his arrest 15 stolen cars were seized by a state inspector at Macomb. Wagon will be tried on two bootlegging cases and one automobile theft case in the January term of circuit court, according to the sheriff of McDonough county.

Announce Big Deal to Boost Strength of Killifer's Cubs

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 23.—Rogers Hornsby, second baseman of the St. Louis Nationals and "Kid" Gleason, pitcher of the Chicago Americans, will become members of the Chicago Nationals through a deal which has been or will shortly be closed, according to the Chicago Tribune.

Hack Miller, Marty Callaghan, Charlie Hollocher, Virgil Cheevers and Ernie Osborne and about $100,000 will go to the Cards, according to the Tribune.

The veteran "Kid" Gleason, who guided the White Sox several years, will be chief assistant to Manager Killifer of the Cubs and will spend most of his time coaching pitchers. Gleason's going to the Chicago Nationals is expected to counterbalance the attraction of fans to Frank Chance, who succeeds him as pilot of the White Sox. His connection with the National League team is expected to boost the pennant aspirations of the Cubs.

Radio Communication from Plane to Hangar is Proven Successful

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Omaha, Neb., Nov. 23.—Removal of that element of air mail flying which has cost the lives of not a few of the men who have braved the air's whims of desolate places, was proved today by the successful conclusion of two days of tests of broadcasting from an air mail plane, under service conditions, of the human voice.

When Jack Knight, veteran pilot returned to earth at North Platte, Neb., last night after an hour in the air during which he was in almost constant touch with the Omaha air station, he had nearly 300 miles away, it was proven that the one mail transmitting station for planes is a success, Michale asserted.

SEEK OWNERS OF BIG STILL NEAR PEORIA

Miniature Distillery Found Near Peoria Thursday P. M.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill., Nov. 23.—Search for the moonshiners who operated the miniature "distillery" seized in a secluded spot in the Wesley City hills, near Peoria, was being continued today by sheriff's forces of Tazewell county. The moonshiners, tipped off by a lookout, fled to Peoria when two armed men approached, but Sheriff E. Neuhaus expects to make many arrests today.

The still was by far the largest ever found in this district. It had a capacity of seventy-five gallons and was equipped with a 200 gallon boiler operated by a coke-burning engine. One hundred gallons of moonshine whiskey was seized in addition to five, 1,000 gallon vats, each containing mash. A pipe line carried water from a spring fifteen rods away and two gasoline engines were used.

Three trucks and twenty-five men were required to move the outfit to Peoria where it was stored in a warehouse. The two special agents who have been working on the case for nearly a month said it was the largest still they ever heard of with the capacity of one reported seized in Maryland. This seizure is part of a county wide "mop up" campaign started this week in Tazewell county, more than a score of smaller stills and home brew devices having been seized.

Revenge Held Cause for Gland Robbery on Chicago Taxi Driver

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 23.—Theories that revenge actuated the mutilation of Charles Henry taxi driver, victim of a gland robbery, and that an accident may have caused injuries to John Powell are being developed by authorities today.

Detectives are seeking "Red" Carrigan, a taxicab driver, named by Ream as one of the two men who kidnapped him Tuesday. Ream said he and Carrigan had quarreled recently over a "fare".

Doctors said no effort had been made to injure Powell permanently. Powell told doctors he took two strangers down a safe near Waukegan, sat down on a hay stack, went to sleep and that when he awoke he found he had been injured. He denied he was attacked and asserted his injuries came from a hay knife he accidentally leaned upon.

MEMBERSHIP OF Y. M. C. A. GIVEN BOOST THIS WEEK

Quiet Campaign Added Over Hundred to Local Membership.

For the last three days between thirty and forty men have been quietly seeking their friends with the idea of enlisting them into membership of the local Y. M. C. A. Everett Dutcher acted as chairman of the whole committee with Niles Palmer and James Andrews as his executives in directing the work. They placed as their objective the renewing of all present members and the addition of one hundred new members. The first day was spent in getting in large numbers of renewals and the last two days the new members secured have numbered the renewals by two to one. At last night's lunch Mr. Dutcher was able to report that the work had been accomplished and the objectives more than reached.

Added to this gratifying report is the fact that the work was done in the time set—three days and no extra time was needed. Memberships are still coming in and it is expected that instead of one hundred new members the number will reach one hundred and fifty. Every committee man in making his last report last evening expressed himself that it was the easiest membership effort he had ever made and not a man reported criticism at the work. The Young Men's Christian Association is doing at the present time. Activities are daily increasing and it is one of the busiest spots in the city every day.

Mr. Hunt, the general secretary, reported to the committee that the privileges are being used by an average of six thousand people every month. President Coolidge, in the opinion of Mr. Graham, will pursue a hands-off policy. The President, Mr. Graham declared after a conference yesterday, expressed no preference as to the leadership and indicated he thought it was a matter for the people to decide by republican means of the house.

Goodspeed Defends Bible Translation

Chicago, Nov. 23.—(By The Associated Press)—A defense of a modern translation of the New Testament which he said had been criticized by newspapers, was made here last night by Professor E. J. Goodspeed, professor of biblical and patristic Greek and author of the American translation of the New Testament, speaking on the William Vaughn Moody lectureship at the University of Chicago.

He said that the modern writer has a greater number of Greek texts on which to base his translation than had those who made the translation now in general use. With a better understanding of the Greek language than 300 years ago, he said that the modern translator would know more than his predecessors concerning the manuscripts.

COOLIDGE TO KEEP OUT OF HOUSE FIGHT

Graham and Long- worth to Fight for House Leadership.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 23.—The contest between Representative Graham of Illinois, and Representative Longworth of Ohio, for republican leadership in the house, has not been relaxed, and indications are that unless members of the progressive republican bloc are satisfied with their representation on certain committees, they will precipitate a vigorous fight over the speakership.

President Coolidge, in the opinion of Mr. Graham, will pursue a hands-off policy. The President, Mr. Graham declared after a conference yesterday, expressed no preference as to the leadership and indicated he thought it was a matter for the people to decide by republican means of the house.

Mr. Graham emphasized his candidacy was a "sane progressive movement for the best interests of the republican party and the country," and contended his selection as leader would eliminate the sectional aspect of control that would result if Representative Gillette of Mass., were chosen as leader. Supporters of Mr. Graham claim at least eighty votes for him in the party's organization conference, December 1.

Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, a spokesman for the progressive republican bloc, said that while members of the group were likely to take collective action only on legislative matters, they would support Representative Gillette of Mass., were chosen as leader. By Associated Press Leased Wire

Endorsement by the convention of the five-year budget proposal, made yesterday by Congressman C. A. ### OFFICIALIZING OF SUNDAY'S BATTLE SOURCE OF WORRY

Rochelle Management is Hard to Please; No One Accepted Yet.

Who will officiate at the final game of the schedule here Sunday between Dixon and Rochelle? This is a matter that is causing no small amount of worry to Coach Sherwood Dixon who a few days ago had hoped that this part of the preliminary work was closed. The management of Rochelle's 40-8's aggregation has objected strenuously to any of the officials who have served here this season and some it has termed "irresponsible."

Frank "Stub" Hogan of South Bend Ind., who has practically been decided upon to officiate, is not acceptable to Manager Carpenter of Rochelle. Anderson of Ohio, who has worked various games here for the Legion and high school and has always given satisfaction, will not be accepted by Rochelle. "Butch" Whipple of Elgin, who it was thought could come here and act as head linesman, advises that he will be unable to come.

The Rochelle management decided that Coach Hart of the Mt. Morris college should be a responsible official but it has been learned that he will be unable to officiate on this occasion.

Manager Carpenter is willing to allow certain officials from Rockport to preside but Coach Dixon objects to this arrangement and at noon today it was an unsettled question as to who would be selected and secured to officiate in the final game here Sunday.

The action of the constable may result in the calling of a special meeting of the town board, as it is said the law does not provide for the absence of a constable from duties. In case of refusal to serve papers and carry on the duties of his office, the law provides that a successor may be appointed to serve for the remainder of the term. A private telephone system which will connect all of the stations of the Illinois Northern Utilities company in this section of the state is under construction and will soon be in readiness for operation. The poles carrying the company's high tension service wires, the telephone lines being placed lower on the pole than the service system. Freeport, Belvidere, Sterling, Mendota and other of the larger cities served by the company will be in connection with the head offices in this city.

By the installation of this system it is calculated that the saving to the company in long distance telephone tolls will amount to a good many thousands of dollars annually; also that in case of storm it will prevent much inconvenience and delay as the company's line-men can repair the telephone lines and restore them promptly to working order.

CHARGE HUNTER SHOT MAN EAST OF THIS CITY

Deputy Game Warden Working on Several Violations.

With the opening of the rabbit hunting season complaints are coming to the attention of Deputy State Game Warden Frank Schoenholz of the unlawful practice of shooting the bunnies from automobiles by the aid of strong spot lights. A case which was reported this morning was an example of one of the most flagrant violations in years.

Two men who were hunting rabbits along the roads east of Dixon about 10 o'clock last night, are reported to have driven into the yard of a house where they discharged a shot gun close to the house. A member of the family was in the yard at the time he was struck in the body and face by the shot. He ran into the house and notified members of the family who were retiring. The license number on the car was secured as the machine sped out of the yard and a report of the incident was made to the deputy state game warden this morning, which will probably result in arrests being made before noon tomorrow. BULLETIN
Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 23.—(By The Associated Press)—The state senate today rejected an amendment to the Ku Klux Klan bill under consideration which would have provided for the filing with county officers semi-annually, a list of officers and members of secret orders. The vote was 13-23.

Senator Hudson, democratic floor leader, brought applause from the galleries when he defended the Klan. He declared that the purpose of the proposal to make public the names of Klansmen was "to enable their enemies to destroy them."

He declared the Klan "stands for law and order." He precipitated a clash with Senator Glasser, supporter of the anti-Klan measure, when he charged the latter with supporting the proposal to reveal the names of Klansmen "to enable their enemies to destroy them."

Observers noted that the women in the galleries gave constant evidence of supporting senators speaking in favor of the Klan.

Dr. E. A. Davenport, state health commissioner, and T. P. Edwards, former personal chauffeur of the deposed governor, were also indicted on five counts each charging diversion of public funds. Walton made bond of $5,000.

Indictments against the former governor charged felonies except the one alleging intimidation of an officer. This charge is based on the dispersal September 17 of a grand jury called to investigate his official acts as governor.

EARLIER REPORT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 23.—(By The Associated Press)—J. C. Walton removed Monday as governor, was today indicted by the Oklahoma County grand jury on two counts charging diversion of public funds and interfering with the convening of a grand jury.

Dr. A. E. Davenport, state health commissioner, and T. P. Edwards, the former governor's personal chauffeur, were also indicted on charges of diverting public funds.

The indictment regarding the alleged diversion of funds charges a felony. The grand jury charge constitutes a misdemeanor.

The allegations are virtually the same as those embodied in ineffectual articles on which Walton was found guilty.

The charge Walton with placing Edwards on the payroll of the state health department at the time Edwards was acting as his chauffeur, and with preventing a special grand jury in Oklahoma City on Sept. 17, by use of military force.

THANKSGIVING—

The charm of quietude, of repose, is over the whole landscape. That is the true mood, it seems to me of these gray November days. I never liked Bryant's characterization of them as melancholy and sad. There is a suggestion of sadness, perhaps in the general absence of light and color, but this sadness of nature is not melancholy. It lacks the element of regretfulness. It is like rest after toil, or peace after struggle, than remorse or regret after failure. The year has gone well. The round of physical productiveness, of labor, anticipation, joyful activity is finished. Summer is past, but not lost. The year has been crowned with the fullness of harvest. Nature sits down like a tired husbandman, on the threshold of her bursting granary. This is the season of her Thanksgiving, as well as man's. What if her skies are gray? Gray is rather the mantle of rest or retirement than of melancholy." Author Unknown.

Women's League Burlesque Senate

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 23.—A burlesque on the Illinois senate featured the closing session of the Illinois League of Women Voters yesterday when delegates assembled as a legislative body and voted to make man the equal of women. Officers nominated Tuesday were elected.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, presiding at the mock session explained that the women had an opportunity to express themselves toward the treatment they received at the hands of the 53rd general assembly which refused all legislation for women except the law for protecting wild fowls.

A report on social hygiene submitted by Dr. Rachelle Yarros, urging "separate supervision of juvenile delinquents by carefully selected and well trained parole officers" was adopted.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Salt Meat.

Do not salt meat except before cooking, as salt is apt to make the meat turn red.

Fat Foods.

Doughnuts, French fried potatoes, or any foods that have been fried in deep fat, should be placed on clean paper after being removed from the kettle so that all extra fat may be absorbed by the paper.

Keeping Cauliflower.

Cauliflower and brussels sprouts will keep for a long time if they are stuck, root down, in dry sand and kept in a dry place.

Pan Roast.

Sunshine Class Group Meeting Was Enjoyed

The West Group of the Sunshine Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church enjoyed a very pleasant meeting last evening at the home of Mesdames Jennie Lowry and Lavenia Swank. The house was decorated with flowers of different kinds, and the beautiful bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums was given by the hostesses as a gift to a sick member from their section.

Six section leaders were appointed, which completed the organization of the group. Mrs. Mary Peterson was elected Group Chairman to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation on account of illness.

An interesting letter from a member who formerly lived in that neighborhood, was read as a part of the program. It contained several pages describing her auto trip from Iowa to California this fall. She went through Raton Pass, between Trinidad, Colorado and Raton, New Mexico, where the highest elevation is 7,888 feet; Cimarron Canyon, also that of the Rio Grande, and Grand Canyon. She also visited the Hopi Indians, and saw the house which is an exact reproduction of their dwellings near the rim of the Painted Desert, where the tribe lives. She mentioned the help that the Sunshine Class members had been giving her when she was in Dixon, and the usefulness to her since of the Bible knowledge thus gained.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, and there was much fun during the social hour.

Card Party Last Evening a Success

The Altar and Rosary Society held a very pleasant and most successful card party in K. C. hall last evening, attended by a large number of guests. There were forty tables at which guests played progressive five hundred, Summer is past, but not lost. The year has been crowned with the fullness of harvest. Nature sits down like a tired husbandman, on the threshold of her bursting granary. This is the season of her Thanksgiving, as well as man's. What if her skies are gray? Gray is rather the mantle of rest or retirement than of melancholy." Author Unknown.

Very Delightful Party Was Given

One of the season's most delightful parties was given last night by the confectionery division employees at the Borden Company plant.

The room was most artistically decorated with festoons, flowers and balloons and much credit is due those who planned and worked out the ideas. The Japanese lanterns and beautiful table and floor lamps added much, too, and in fact one might have thought the room was never used for anything except parties.

The committee who engaged the orchestra made a fine selection and those who enjoyed dancing thought the hour of twelve came all too soon. One of the most entertaining features of the evening was the "Prize" given by Ray Tomkins of Chicago.

At 10 o'clock the "crowd" posed for a photograph and immediately following, the entertainment was resumed. Some popular musical numbers were given by Mrs. Sumner Wilson and Miss Emma Jany; they very kindly responded to encores. Mrs. S. C. Burnham gave a "Thanksgiving" reading which was very much enjoyed and those who sponsored the party especially appreciated her thoughtfulness in the few remarks she made preceding the reading.

The refreshment committee surely will be asked to serve again for during the entire evening everyone realized nothing was forgotten—the frappe was delicious and when the buffet lunch was announced, everyone "re-sounded"—several varieties of sandwiches, pickles, cheese, doughnuts and coffee were all ready and as some one said, "the lunch was 110 percent."

The girls didn't forget to make baskets of fine fudge and those who liked fruit enjoyed the shiny red apples. The entire evening was a success in every detail and the employees take this opportunity to thank those who made it possible for the party to be given.

Mt. Union Community Aid Society Meeting

Members of the Mt. Union Community Aid Society, the members of the Christian Aid Society of Pennsylvania Corners, and members of the American Legion Auxiliary, to the number of fifty-seven, met at the home of Mrs. Leland Brink, West 21st, Nov. 21st. Sewing occupied the morning hours until noon when a picnic dinner was enjoyed, after which a business meeting was held.

Mrs. Stevens, the president of the Mt. Union Aid Society announced the addition of three new members to the society. Mrs. Ray Carson, Mrs. Robert Herbst and Mrs. Katherine Stanley Johnson.

A letter of thanks was read from a disabled soldier, W. H. Sheller, who is in the Hines Hospital at Maywood, for the box of dried fruits sent him in last Armistice Day, by the society.

Mrs. Jennie Dockery favored with a vocal solo and encore. The Brink home was beautiful throughout, with chrysanthemums and potted plants. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the Christian church at Pennsylvania Corners. Mrs. Frank Dockery and Mrs. Charles Grobe, will be the hostesses. Comforters will be tied and all are urged to attend.

Mrs. Palmer Talks on Pleasures of Young

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Centralla, Ill., Nov. 23.—Uncensored movies, unchaperoned cabarets and jazz music dance halls, according to Mrs. George Palmer, President of the Illinois Federation of Women's club have created an entirely new problem for the young folks today, which their mothers and fathers had not to contend with. Mrs. Palmer made the assertion in an address here today at a meeting of club women held under the auspices of the Centralla Woman's club.

Entertainment of the "old days" when husking bees, barn raisings and church socials offered "proper relaxation," Mrs. Palmer said, "did not create a problem, and we did not need to worry about safety valves for surplus energies. Those harmless pleasures met the need of the day. Now, however, we have to take cognizance of the fact that the unchaperoned movies, the unchaperoned cabaret, and dance halls where jazz music, over-erated and unventilated rooms, lead to familiarities and temptations sometimes hard to resist."

Mrs. Palmer mentioned these things in emphasizing the necessity of a greater interest in good government on the part of Illinois women.

"Whether she is conscious of it or not," she said, "every woman is vitally concerned in government, since it touches almost every relationship of her daily life, through officials she should help choose. The young girl may not be interested in government but let her become a wife and mother and she becomes deeply concerned in the enforcement of laws which provide for adequate training and supervision of physicians and nurses, laws which exact birth registration for protection of the child, and laws demanding the right kind of care at birth."

"Every mother should be vitally interested in all laws protecting the health of her family, and is, in a measure, responsible for proper administration of city and state health departments."

"Unmarried women should be just as much interested in good government as mothers, because good government means clean streets and alleys; protected thoroughfares and homes; fine buildings, beautiful parks and wholesome recreation. But we must remember that the government cannot rise higher in its standards and conceptions than the combined ideas of the individual voters."

"Women have no excuse for grumbling," Mrs. Palmer said in closing. "If they are not voting and taking an intelligent interest in the subject of government. We are the people, we are the government, and we are the voters. Go to the primaries first, that you may help select the right kind of candidates. Then see that they are elected."

Oregon Chapter Hostess to Others

The Oregon Chapter Order of Eastern Star was host last Thursday evening to the officers of Dorothy Chapter of Dixon and Corinthian Chapter of Peoria, a goodly number being present in spite of the bad weather.

After the Chapter was called to order, Mrs. Glenn Andrew, Worthy Matron, received the visiting Worthy Matrons and Patrons and their own Past Worthy Matrons, in the East and introduced them to those assembled after which the regular business of the evening was transacted. At its conclusion, the officers conducted a Vocal Star, much to the delight of the visitors, and the precision and perfection with which this beautiful work was done, indicated that much time and thought had been spent in carrying it out. A drill team made up of officers rounded out the evening's entertainment by their splendid execution of several difficult emblem formations. The Chapter was then closed and after a cornet solo of patriotic airs by Mr. C. A. Mendenhall, all were invited to the dining room where delicious refreshments were waiting. While these were being served, several informal talks were called for and were responded to by Mrs. W. H. Ware and Lee Reed of Dixon, Miss Mildred Donelson of Peoria and Charles Baker of Monroe Center.

It was an evening of great pleasure and profit as well and the visitors feel very much indebted to the Oregon Chapter for the hospitality extended.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

GARNISHES
When you serve a salad or dessert do you think how attractive to look at you can make it as well as how good to eat?

And when you must use up left-over meats in croquettes or croque-madame, do you ever think that a tiny sprig of parsley dropped here and there on the platter lifts the dish several notches higher in the estimation of the family?

There are so many simple garnishes that are inexpensive and require no special tools that it seems a pity the average housewife overlooks the possibilities at her hand.

Cold roast or broiled meat, thinly sliced and arranged neatly on a platter in an overlapping fashion, is twice as appetizing as if carelessly served. Just a sprinkling of paprika, the last thing before sending a platter of creamed dried beef on toast to the table adds an intriguing touch to an everyday standby.

Hard-Boiled Eggs

Hard-boiled eggs are an effective garnish. They are cut in rings across the egg or lengthwise. The white then makes petal-shaped sections and the yolk is sliced to form the center of the daisy. Can't you imagine a mound of dark green spinach with one of these posies in the center, and a ring of fluffy rice surrounding the base of the mound? Serve a rich white sauce or a smooth cheese sauce in a separate dish and the whole provides nourishment as well as beauty. This combination might be used as the main dish for luncheon or with the meat course for dinner.

More threads of canned pimiento through a cabbage salad or any vegetable or meat salad masked with mayonnaise add much to the dish.

Head lettuce is high, but if the outside leaves are cut in "ribbons" and used as a salad garnish there is no waste to the head. These tiny green ribbons are lovely worked into nests for individual salads, or used to surround a large molded salad.

Left-Overs

A left-over vegetable salad molded in jelly or simply moulded on a bed of lettuce shreds, masked with yellow mayonnaise and "trimmed" with threads of scarlet pimiento, thin slices of olives, tiny diamonds of pickled beets can be evolved in the home kitchen.

With the vegetable cutters and pastry tubes now on the market all sorts of marvelous things are done. Mashed potatoes blossom into roses with hearts of creamed carrots. Turnips are cut in marbles and piled in little mounts before the sauce is poured over them. Or potatoes cut with the same vegetable cutter are parboiled in salted water, drained and sautéed in bacon fat or butter to a delicious brown and served as a garnish for a steak.

Maraschino cherries are cut in quarters and used quite as effectively as a whole cherry for garnishing desserts.

Flavor to Pudding

A bit of sparkling currant jelly dropped on each dish of everyday rice pudding does wonders for the pudding. Shreds of candied orange peel can be used in the same way.

Sections or slices of lemon sprinkled with minced parsley garnish the fish platter as well as furnishing the necessary piquant touch to the fish.

If you start garnishing your dishes you will find it fascinating work and be surprised at the many possibilities before you every day. The garnish habit grows and adds much to the interest in serving meals. It is an actual kitchen economy, often utilizing left-overs for the "garniture" and determining to a great degree the palatableness of an uninteresting dish by making it "look good enough to eat."

FANCY TRAY

Every housekeeper finds a great deal of use for a fancy tray, and the most useful are those with a decorative value as well as a utilitarian one.

Perhaps the cheapest way to assemble one is to buy an inexpensive picture in a plain wooden frame. Then remove the picture and insert in its place a decorative piece of wall paper. Then paint the frame to match the high tone of the paper and add a couple of brass handles, and you have a distinctive gift.

If you use a paper with a flashy colorful design, it will make a nice spot of color in the dining room when placed against the wall.

BY WAY OF REPETITION.

The newspaper rule that anonymous communications must not be published may be said to be fundamental. It is against the newspaper "constitution," as adopted originally, and there has been no amendment. The writer of a communication may be anonymous so far as the public is concerned, and his anonymity will not be uncovered even under pressure, unless something equal to murder is involved. Hence the editorial request, so often repeated, that correspondents are requested to sign their names, "not necessarily for publication but as an evidence of good faith." Good faith is what a newspaper requires of a contributor, and protestations of high ideals of good faith by a writer, without his signature, do not "go" in a newspaper office any more than does an unsigned check at a bank.

GREAT BRITAIN SETS EXAMPLE.

The agreement for British repayment of silver borrowed from the American treasury during the war extended into 1924, but Great Britain has anticipated the debt by recently making the final payment and wiping out the whole obligation of over $122,000,000. This leaves the way clear for caring for the debt of $4,600,000,000 covered by the recent refunding agreement. When that agreement was made it was predicted that Great Britain would make payments before they became due, and thus avail herself of the lower interest rates of the first ten years. The British treatment of the whole loan is likely to prove an object lesson to other debtor governments in efficient financial management as well as in honest dealing.

TOELESS.

Our bodies are well standardized, but nature occasionally gets her patterns mixed. A woman falls dead on the Bowery, New York. Doctors, examining, discover she never had any toes on either foot.

Unique—now. But scientists claim that the wearing of tight shoes is apt to lead to a race of women without toes, or with only one—a big one—on each foot. Nature gives us what we need and takes away anything that isn't needed. She never wastes.

RULING CITIES.

Cities—weak link in our system of government, as Bryce long ago pointed out—are gradually moving toward efficiency. In our country, 314 cities now are operating under the commission-manager form of government. Only four have abandoned the system since it was originated 15 years ago.

The old-fashioned politician is inevitably headed for the museum to join the spinning wheel and horse car. We are discovering that government is merely a form of business, a problem in management.

SURGEONS' ERRORS.

Dr. H. S. Crossen, writing in Journal of American Medical Association, says he has listed over 200 cases in which a sponge was left in the abdominal cavity after an operation. In one case the surgeon also left a pair of forceps inside the patient.

The remedy Doc urges, is to use a continuous strip of gauze instead of sponges. In justice to the doctors, it must be admitted they don't make any more mistakes in their work than the rest of us in ours. If that's consoling they're welcome.

STANDING TOGETHER.

Lloyd George, harping on his favorite theme in his Scranton speech, declared that the United States and Great Britain, acting together to insure order in the world, could save civilization. And how could that be? "Not by alliance but by understanding," he said. "Not by contract but by cooperation. I am as opposed to entangling alliances as any man in this republic or in our realm. The two peoples standing together to bring order out of chaos will achieve the end. Mankind will be saved and peace will reign forever."

The conclusion, at least may be regarded as oratorical exaggeration. Nothing that America, or Britain, or both together, can do, now or hereafter, can be sure of making "peace reign forever." Forever is a very long time, and every age has a way of deciding its own destiny.

There is little doubt, however, in the minds of thoughtful men who disregard old prejudices and see things somewhat as they are, that is friendly cooperation between the two great English-speaking countries lies the chief hope of this generation and the next.

It hardly needs to be added that, as regards America at least, the "standing together" must be in formal. Lloyd George himself sees that, more clearly than some of our British friends.

There is not much sympathy wasted on the man who marries a woman who prefers poodle dogs to babies.

When a man starts out to make a fool of himself he is quick to resent any interference with his plans.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 2—A CURIOUS BIRD

"Have you guessed it yet?" asked the Riddle Lady.

This was the first riddle that the Riddle Lady in Riddle Land asked after the Twins arrived with Humpty Dumpty: "Sing a song of sixpence, a pocket full of rye, The bird I wish to speak of was never in a pie. She never built a straw nest, she knows not how to sing, And yet she is a fine bird and worthy of a king."

"This gallant bird, dear people, is worth a lot of money. But hasn't got a feather, you'll think that rather funny! Yet she has wings—quite large ones—that spread out when she flies, And the longest tail you ever saw she pulls all through the sides."

"Have you guessed it yet?" asked the Riddle Lady. "No," cried all the people of Riddle Land, puckering their eyes. "Tell us some more."

So the Riddle Lady went on:

"Sometimes she does a tall spin and often makes a dive, And flies with a quite upside down like nothing else alive. She soars right over mountains, and sails across the seas, And roars across the desert like a hundred thousand bees."

"Her master loves to ride her, like Mother Goose of old. And beside, like the broomstick, does everything she's told. She kneels right down beside him and then like nimble Jack, Her master gives a run and jump and lands upon her back."

"Away she goes a-roaring o'er the city, church and spire, She never stops to take a rest—she never seems to tire. Now I am sure you've seen this bird, you must have guessed her name, It's really quite an easy word—it's just an—"

"Is it a poll-parrot?" asked one Riddle Lander. "Oh, no!" laughed the Riddle Lady. "An eagle!" asked another.

"No—not an eagle, either." "I know—we know," called the Twins excitedly. "It's an airplane."

"Correct!" smiled the Riddle Lady, turning to Dick Red Cap, the Town Crier. "Give these children the first prize in the prize bag."

It was a pound of sugar plums, enough to make any pair of children quite ill—if they were greedy. But Nancy and Nick, being well mannered, passed the sugar plums around and kept only one apiece for themselves.

"Quite a good beginning," said Humpty Dumpty graciously. "I hope that you will do as well tomorrow."

GOOD HUNTING

BY BERTON BRALEY

(After re-reading Kipling's Jungle Book)

Once more I have threaded the jungle through With the Bagheera and fat Baloo, And heard wolves talking one to another, Old Akela and lean Gray Brother. I have trailed Shere Khan to his evil lair, I have heard his roar on the trembling air, I have stood in the heart of the tangled wild With Man Cub Mowgli, and jungle child.

"Good Hunting! Good Hunting!"—the jungle call Still holds me bound in the olden thrall.

Oh, I have wandered the trails again Through clinging creepers, by stream and fen, Where gray apes clamber, or jackals slink Down to the watering holes to drink; For the spell of the jungle is over me, As strong as ever it used to be. When I, a youngster, was first beguiled By tales of Mowgli, the jungle child.

"Good Hunting! Good Hunting!"—the jungle call Still holds me bound in the olden thrall.

Illinois Wesleyan is Against "Green Eye"

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 21.—A warning to students that the joining of the national fraternity of Theta Nu Epsilon, more commonly known as the "Green Eye," will lead to immediate and automatic expulsion from Illinois Wesleyan University, was made this morning in chapel by Dr. William J.

Davidson, president.

The warning is believed to have been prompted by a recent sign of activity by the outlawed fraternity in large letters on the campus with bricks which were to have been used in laying a walk.

Basketball
Friday afternoon Compton high school met Franklin Grove high school on the latter's grounds. The weather was anything but favorable for basketball and the game was slowed up a great deal by fumbles and slow moving. Compton scored first but Franklin soon tied it up and then forged ahead. At the end of the first half the score stood 5-2 in favor of Franklin. During the second half the local boys made seven points while Franklin Grove failed to score. The final score was 9-5 for Compton. Al-den Cole was high point winner for Compton and Ives of Franklin Grove was high man for his team. Capt. McDougall and Montavon played star games.

Lineup for Compton: Cole, rf.; Holden, Cook, Archer, lf.; Archer, Kutter, c.; Montavon, lg.; McDougall, rg. Monday evening the team played the Steward high school team at Steward. The game was fast and well played. The Compton boys are showing the effects of good coaching and this game was the best played this year. The work of the Compton guards was excellent, in that they prevented the Steward team from scoring a single point. The coach tried the combination of Cole and

Archer at forward with Kutter at center during the first half of the game and they worked well. Steward had four personal fouls and Compton two. A. Cole caged 4 field goals, Montavon two and a free throw, and Archer 1 goal and 1 free throw. Steward chose Montavon as the star of the game, but the other boys showed up well. ## GRIDIRON FACTS

By Billy Evans.

THE QUESTION

Ball is on opponent's five-yard line. Team A in possession of the ball, tries to make the goal line on a buck off-tackle. One of the players on the A team cuts through after the secondary and is held by one of the defensive backs behind the goal line. As I understand it the rule says the penalty should be enforced from the spot where the foul occurred. Since it happened back of the goal line, would not a strict interpretation of the rules entitle team A to a touchdown?

THE ANSWER

This play comes up every now and then, and it is always customary for the leading football officials to rule it first down on the one-yard line of the defensive team. Ruling such a play a touchdown since the foul was made back of the goal line would be rather unsatisfactory. As a result officials are in the habit of tempering justice and common sense with the rules and on such a play as you state, they invariably place the ball on the one-yard line and rule it first down.

Iowa Girl Victor in Fight to Hold Her Big Bus Lines

Mason City, Iowa, Nov. 22.—Victorious over railroads, interurban lines and rural Chambers of Commerce who opposed her, Miss Helen Schultz, 24 year old owner of the Red Ball Bus Lines, authorized by the Iowa Railroad Commission, to operate a line between Des Moines and Mason City, planning an extension of her company.

Starting two years ago with $800 saved from her salary as railroad clerk, she has increased her bus line from one second hand bus to 15 motor coaches covering 2,000 miles daily.

Her employees are all men and she prefers men over 30.

"I'd rather deal with men," she says. "I prefer my drivers to be over 30 because they are more trustworthy. I have little trouble with them. I play square with them and usually they play fair with me. If they don't I fire 'em."

She says she has no time to think of matrimony.

Recent statistics show that in India there are 945 females to every 1000 males.

so large that it took three trucks and sixty men to move it, was seized on a farm near East Peoria, Tazewell mous quantity of mash and finished product. The still is said to be the largest ever seized in the state. Hundreds of Peoria residents gathered to witness the arrival of the outfit.

ROAD GRADING CONTRACTS FOR LEE COUNTY LET

Preliminary Steps for Work in This County Taken Yesterday.

John B. Drew of Tampico was the lowest bidder for grading section 21 route 2 in Lee county, for a distance of five miles from Amboy to Sublette, when the bids were opened by the department of Public Works and Buildings at Springfield Thursday afternoon. His bid was $45,500.

J. R. Stevens of Monmouth was the lowest bidder for the construction of three reinforced slab bridges and the substructure for one steel bridge on the same section and route between Amboy and Sublette. His bid was $24,167.

The St. Louis Structural Steel Company of St. Louis was the lowest bidder for the superstructure of the steel bridge. Their bid was $7,650.

Four bridges are to be constructed between Amboy and Sublette, one of 100-foot span over Green river at the south edge of Amboy; one of two 22-foot span with a pier in the middle near the Biester schoolhouse northwest of Sublette, where the channel of a small stream is to be changed; one of 24-foot span about 300 feet north of the Theiss corners, and one of 25-foot span near the Reinbold crossing.

A large amount of grading will be required for the new road, which will take a much straighter course than the present road from Amboy to Sublette. The grading will in fact amount to about $2,000 cubic yards of dirt in the space of about 8 miles.

The channel of Green River is to be changed from its present course and a fill built across the river bottomlands for the road bed. The course of some of the smaller streams will be changed also, and a large amount of filling and leveling will be required in other places.

Because of the nature and amount of this construction work the contract for the paving will not be let until later, as the grading must have time to settle before the surface is applied. The paving contracts will probably be let about a year from now, and the work done during the year following.

The grading and bridge contracts will specify that this work must be completed by October 15, 1924.

Separate contracts will be let for the grading, for the concrete work on the bridges, and for the steel superstructure.

FOOTBALL NEWS

FINAL GAMES IN BIG TEN RACE TOMORROW

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Their training periods complete, the five Western conference eleven today are on their way or have arrived at rival gridirons, where tomorrow they meet five conference opponents in the final games. Two of these struggles will decide the championship.

Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan, all undefeated, were prepared to "shoot no works" tomorrow to lay claim alone or jointly to first honors. Minnesota and Michigan fight it out at Ann Arbor while Illinois struggles with Ohio State at Columbus.

Reports from Ann Arbor are that only five Michigan reserves will play. Uteritz, star quarterback, Blott, Vase, derovot and Marion, linemen, all are expected to be out of the game. Kickoff will start Saturday in the Wisconsin contest is expected to take Uteritz's position again with Joe Miller at end.

The Minnesota went from Minneapolis to Jackson, where they will stay until tomorrow, confident of their ability to win.

Illinois, the other undefeated eleven, is a topheavy favorite over Ohio State although Coach Zuppke has announced two of his regulars will be out of the game due to injuries in the Mississippi Aggies conflict. Illini hopes are based on Red Grange scoring ace. Chicago's first knockout today completes their priming for Wisconsin, whom they entertain tomorrow.

Interest in the Indiana-Purdue contest is confined to the Indiana conference title, both teams being eliminated from Big Ten championship consideration. Northwestern, playing a homecoming game with Iowa at Evanston, is hopeful after a week of bad practice.

ARMY MULE TO MEET NAVY GOAT IN NEW YORK

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, Nov. 23.—The Army mule and the Navy goat resume beligerent relations tomorrow.

At the Polo Grounds, flanked by the middle brigade and the cadet regiment, Uncle Sam's service school teaches the clash in the twenty-sixth engagement, and as each has won 12 and tied one of the games to date, their battle will determine the leadership. Football followers expect the contest to prove the Navy team prodigious and closely fought in the long history of service grid relations.

Neither team has a perfect record. Army has fallen before Notre Dame and Yale and the Navy has been bowed to Penn State and tied with Princeton.

The cadet team is a slight favorite. It is made up largely of veterans from the 1922 eleven which defeated the middies, whereas several new names are to be found in the Annapolis eleven. West Point's offensive, which has totaled nearly twice the number of points the Army team produced, is another factor influencing the estimate.

In Wood and Smythe the Army boasts two backfield stars who have proved superior to any of the middle combination and Wood's punting and off-tackle work and Smythe's broken field efforts are expected to prove features of the Army's play.

GALE BULLDOG HOPES TO AVENGE PAST GAMES

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, Nov. 23.—The Yale bulldog leaps at the throat of John Harvard tomorrow.

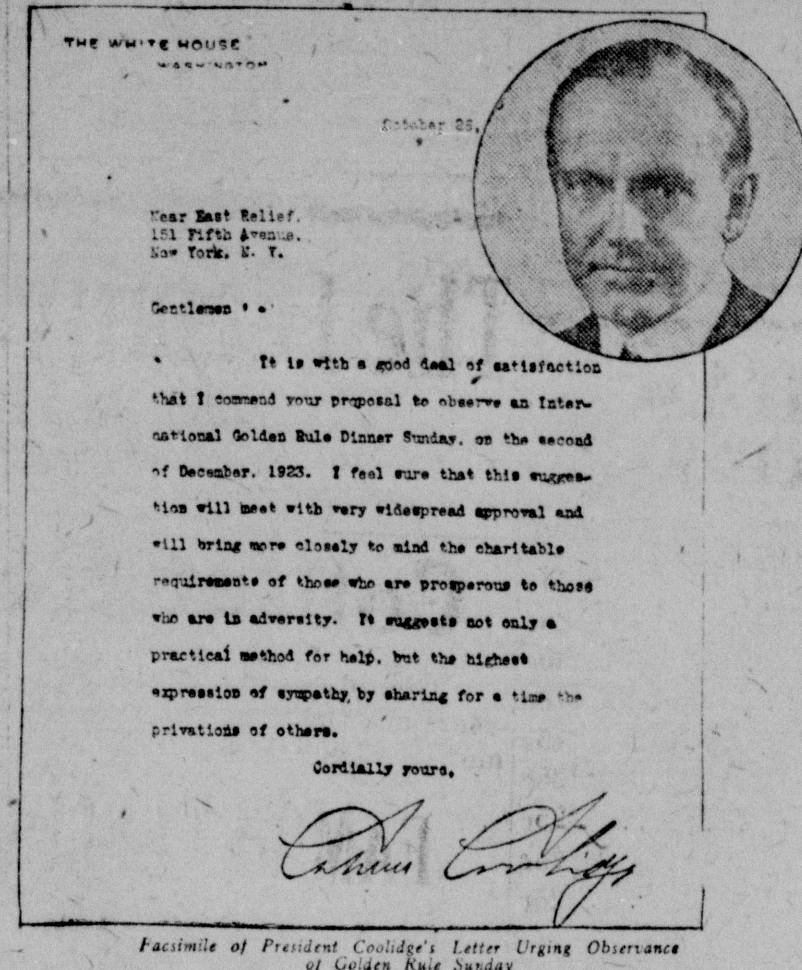

That bulldog, symbolic of Yale football, fretfully awaits the impending tussle. The welts from past whippings at the hands of Cambridge still plainly mark its hide. The ignominy of nine Yale defeats in thirteen battles rattle his canine heart. Thorough and lasting vengeance is the bulldog's aim.

Upwards of 50,000 persons will witness the combat.

Yale rules a decided favorite but memory of the happenings of the past make a Yale triumph anything but sure.

COOLIDGE URGES OBSERVANCE OF GOLDEN RULE DAY DEC. 2nd

It is with a good deal of satisfaction that I command your proposal to observe an International Golden Rule Day Sunday, on the second of December, 1923. I feel sure that this suggestion will meet with very widespread approval and will bring more closely to mind the charitable requirements of those who are prosperous to those who are in adversity. It suggests not only a practical method for help, but the highest expression of sympathy by sharing for a time the privations of others.

Cordially yours,

Calvin Coolidge

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has written to the Near East Relief headquarters in New York commending the idea of International Golden Rule Day to be observed all over the world on Sunday, December 2nd, as a means of providing food for the orphans in the Near East and urging the widespread observance of the day, both as a practical method of help and as an expression of international goodwill.

The President's letter, a facsimile of which is reproduced above, said in part: "I feel sure that this suggestion will meet with very widespread approval and will bring more closely to mind the charitable requirements of those who are prosperous to those who are in adversity. It suggests not only a practical method of help, but the highest expression of sympathy, by sharing for a time the privations of others."

METHODS OF FAKE OIL MEN TO KEEP IN LAW EXPLAINED

Gibbons Tells of Details of Schemes They Employ.

Methods Used

STOCKHOLDERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

Without any legal authority, the "association" would attack some probably legitimate oil concern. It could send notice to the firm's investors that the concern was un-sound. For a fee of $5 or more, the "association" formed to protect stockholders would look after the investors' interests.

Fearful of loss, 90 per cent of the investors came through with the fee. The "association" would then wait about a year and send out a stereotyped report on its findings.

Usually, this report contained nothing of value, and at a most, cost about "association" two cents for mailing. Big margins were thus made.

BL ROY J. GIBBONS

NEA Service Writer

St. Worth, Tex.—Within the law! That typifies the attitude, striving for and blunted psychology of the crooked oil promoter, outnumbered by the legitimate non-bellowing operator who never advertises in pages of lurid promises.

Nor is to be classed along with that group of promoters who are honest in their intentions.

The crooked promoter has no dealing with the latter two. He hates them for being honest.

And they in turn naturally regard him with intensified loathing for discrediting their business.

First and foremost, the crooked promoter who greatly outnumbered the honest competitors in the big Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma fields, was out for himself.

Knew No Geology

In a majority of cases, as substantiated by government investigation, when he first became a promoter he knew nothing about oil whatsoever.

For the manner and means by which he obtained it.

In other words, he was a greenhorn—an inexperienced yokel—who justified himself upon the public by subsidized news accounts in promoter-owned publications, as a bona fide oil expert.

His primary and sole interest was to sell stock—and do nothing else but sell stock—in a company of his own creation with never a thought of actually producing oil.

By hook and crook, lying statements and overdrawn promises the crooked promoter advertised and circarized his "sucker lists" stating that he had secured the rights to the land and all manner of rosy inducements to part the prospect from his investment contribution.

Doesn't Want Oil

Beginning in the while, that the crooked promoter is not out to get oil at all you next find him out on undeveloped, unproven territory—on "wild cat" acreage, as it is called.

Perhaps from his stock sale campaign he has sold $1,000,000 worth of shares, certificates, titles or whatever else he calls them.

He wants to keep within the law, and at the same time he wants to stay crooked.

Hence you find him sinking a well on the "wild cat" land, down to whatever depth he vaguely promised he would sink it.

But having made virtually certain before operations were begun that the "hole" would come in dry, he pays the driller a few thousand dollars for his "sucker lists" stating that the balance of the million for his own purposes.

Such tactics were the rule and not the exception during the peak of the oil boom days.

They were permitted under the state law of Texas where no blue sky statute was in effect at the time.

Use Legal Kinks

Promoters operated in what was known as a declaration of trust.

This legal instrument gave them absolute power over the money of their investors. They could drill for oil under its terms, or go hunting for elephants if they so chose, under its broad and drastic powers.

Any show the crooked promoter made of trying to produce oil was one of pretense entirely.

Drilling a well on land which he knew was non-oil-bearing constituted in his mind discharge of obligation to his stockholders. He kidded himself into believing that he was playing a game, and that if the public was big enough fool to play with him, it would continue to be stung.

Destroy Oil Wells

If he drilled wells, as he said he would, when advertising, the government couldn't read his mind and see that he planned his wells on territory which he knew beforehand would come in dry.

Instances are on record in cases still to be investigated where wells, which actually did not produce, were squelched by being pushed down to salt water levels.

Had they "nursed" them along, as the saying down here goes in the oil fields, they might have become paying propositions.

Pake promoters promised dividends in their companies ranging upward from 100 per cent.

Paying "Dividends"

Hence their reason for snuffing out small wells that accidentally were struck.

Profits received from such a well when distributed over a list of 5000 "suckers" might probably be a few cents each.

That would quickly knock out the promoter's chances. But sometimes he did pay big dividends, for the purpose of luring.

Can't Stop Joint-Ease

You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sores, rheumatism and cold in chest, writes one of our drug gists friends. "They say it's the best ever."

We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen, painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most satisfying results.

World's Largest Flag

More than 1261 yards of material was used in making this gigantic American flag, unfurled in Detroit on Armistice Day. It weighs 600 pounds and occupies 160 cubic feet of space when folded. It is 150 feet by 90 feet and the blue field is 49x60 feet. Photo shows seamstresses sewing in stars and stripes. Hitherto, the biggest flag "championship" has been held by St. Louis, with a banner 78x150 feet.

pose of baiting on additional victims. Money for the dividends distributed by crooked promoters was not received from oil sale profits, but from sources as faked as the promoter himself.

Yes, he promised givers of oil. But instead came rivers of tears and teacups of oil.

Further trickeries practiced by fake oil stock promoters and brokers are explained in Gibbons' next article.

Looney Reported to Be in Toledo, Ohio

Rock Island, Nov. 21 — John P. Looney, wanted in Rock Island on charge of murder and other offenses, is said to have been seen in Toledo, O. Sheriff C. L. Edwards was informed yesterday by a Rock Island man that he had seen Looney on the streets there. The man is said to be employed on a Great Lakes boat. He is convinced that Looney is writing for the Toledo Blade.

The sheriff is suspicious of mistaken identity, but the Pinkerton Detective agency will be notified of the tip from the lake sailor.

Daughter in Santa Fe

Through J. J. Conway of Ottawa, attorney for Looney and his daughter, Sheriff Edwards has been informed that Mrs. Ursula Hamilton, the daughter, is in Santa Fe, N. M.

Conway was communicating with the sheriff with reference to probable sale of a typewriter machine in the Rock Island News plant, in hands of the sheriff on attachment. Sale of the machine as perishable property was considered. Conway relates that Mrs. Hamilton claims the machine, contending that she purchased it, and offering to show records of the Merchants' company as proof. She thinks her copy of the contract was seized when she was searched. The letter states further that a child was born to the Hamiltons last month.

American Cemeteries in Europe Satisfactory

Washington, Nov. 22.—An official report on the condition of American military cemeteries in Europe, submitted by Major H. L. Green, constructing quartermaster, shows "everything is going on most satisfactorily in improvement and construction in the various cemeteries overseas."

"The only deterring factor," the report says, "is the makeup of the French Contractor, who does not organize and force his work in the same way as the American contractor. Consequently, the work is necessarily slow."

PALATINATES OF EUROPE AND OF U. S. ARE DESCRIBED

Geographical Society Bulletin Gives Interesting Facts.

Washington, D. C.—Answering the question "Why is a palatinate?" would be a much easier task for the schoolboy of Shakespeare's day than a pupil of today. One principally of Europe, smaller than the state of Delaware, has now laid special claim to this once common term by spelling it with a capital "P," but three hundred years ago palatinates were as common as Main streets, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The Palatinate of Bavaria, which has claimed the columns of American newspapers to the top headlines recently, by virtue of news that its citizens have erected a separate independent government, is a near cousin to Alsace-Lorraine on the French bank of the Rhine.

Two States Were Palatinates

"Due to the object lesson of turbulent Alsace-Lorraine, possibly, the Palatinate has been the intractable child of Bavaria, to whose direction this border district is entrusted. Though this district comes by the name Palatinate because of long usage, there were palatinates in America before the Revolution.

"Maryland was the palatinate of the Calverts, the Maine originally was not a colony, but the palatinate of Ferdinand Gorges. The term is a survivor of feudal times. In the days when a man's house was actually his castle which he had to defend by force of arms, kings were not anxious to assume responsibility. Therefore they found it convenient to assign one of their adherents to a district, giving him the upower to be master, collect taxes and administer justice as he saw fit.

"The term 'palatinate' was appropriately applied to such a holding as it comes from the same Latin root word as 'palace' and 'castle.'

"The palatinate of the post-war boundaries is approximately a disk described by a thirty-mile radius using Kaiserslautern, its principal town, as a center. A pencil outline of this circle on any map will show immediately that it lies between two important centers, the famous Saar coal basin on the east, and Frankfurt on the west. Though these two centers alone are sufficient to make it vital, strategically the Palatinate is of added interest because it is on one of the chief routes between southern and northern Europe.

"Kaiserslautern lies in the gap down which the American army was charging after the battle of the Argonne. It is on the main railroad route from Metz through Saarbrück to Frankfurt-on-the-Rhine. To the south of the Palatinate lies Alsace, now French territory. Strasbourg, leading city of this district, is 60 miles over the border.

"Part of the famous Saar coal region used to be within the Palatinate territory but the Versailles treaty changed that.

A Substance of Many Uses

"Enzheim, a small town of the Palatinate, is said to have been a pioneer in a trade which, though old in the East, is relatively new in the Western World. This town was an early center of the paper-mache trade which is now widely distributed in many cities. Few people actually recognize paper-mache when they see it because it is apt to pop up in the most unusual places. It may be a doll's head, a coach door, the cornice of a building, or a doctor's model of an arm. When it was first introduced into Europe it was used principally for making snuffboxes. European craftsmen followed the Persian and Japanese practice of making ornamental arm (more or less) objects from paper pulp soaked in glue or some such binder. At the beginning of the nineteenth century the Palatinate supplied snuffboxes for the beaus of Paris, Vienna and Munich. It now takes old rags and papers and converts them into knife handles, toys, trays, statuettes and a thousand other articles.

"In the Metz iron region, just over the border from the Palatinate, Bismarck's allies made a great mistake. After the defeat of France, in 1870, a treaty transferred the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany. Bismarck sent his experts to discover the iron resources in the Vosges, then only partially developed. They reported that the border line was drawn to give Germany the iron. A few years after the treaty was concluded more iron was discovered on the French side of the line. Before the war the French mines produced 11 per cent of the world's iron and the German mines 12 per cent. The mines now belong entirely to France."

THE PALATINATE

"The Palatinate in its post-war boundaries is approximately a disk described by a thirty-mile radius using Kaiserslautern, its principal town, as a center. A pencil outline of this circle on any map will show immediately that it lies between two important centers, the famous Saar coal basin on the east, and Frankfurt on the west. Though these two centers alone are sufficient to make it vital,

HOG CHOLERA IS RAGING IN DROVES ABOUT W. BROOKLYN

One Farmer Awoke and Found 38 of 40 Head
Died in Night.

West Brooklyn—The pupils of the local high school who had the pleasure of making a sight-seeing tour through the clock and zinc works last week have gotten up the following interesting and detailed account of the trip which will no doubt be read with interest by those of us who have never had the opportunity to see these sights. The account was written by Misses Marguerite Phalen and Esther Michel. "A Commercial Geography Trip From West Brooklyn to the Industries of LaSalle."

We left West Brooklyn about 9:30 Friday, Nov. 9 on our way to LaSalle. This trip was made for the interests of industry and trade. Our text book gives us only a mental picture of the process of clock manufacture, so, in order to have a more definite conception in regard to this subject we decided upon this trip.

The clock works is situated at the western extremity of LaSalle and has a floor space of ten and a half acres. Over twenty-five hundred people are employed, half of this number being male help and the remainder women. The employees are from LaSalle, Peru, Spring Valley, Utica, Oglesby and Ladd.

The company is very considerate of the employees, having established a medical department for their benefit. In this department two trained nurses and other assistants give special treatment to those slightly injured. All persons must pass a medical examination before they are taken into the company's employ. A library containing all the beneficial reading matter and bowling alleys are also open to the employees.

At noon two whistles are blown. The first, dismissing the women for a session of one hour. The second, being blown two minutes later, dismisses the men. A well equipped lunch room with a seating capacity of eight hundred has been provided for the workers remaining for their mid-day meal.

The factory was established in 1885 and its rapid progress was interrupted for a brief period on account of the scarcity of material due to the World War. The first clock that was manufactured by this company was the "American" and at the present time they make fourteen different styles of clocks and two kinds of watches which range in retail price from $1.50 to $3.50. In 1919 the annual output of clocks was 16,000, while today it is 21,000 per day.

The company does all its own advertising, having a printing department in the factory for this purpose. Young men having a four year high school training or its equivalent are allowed to enter a training school here. These boys are trained for one hour each day for four years and they are then capable of working any place on the earth.

All machinery used in the factory is of a standard make. The company has its own patents on most of it. Injuries to workmen are very carefully guarded against by means of safety devices on the machinery.

Orders for clocks are received and business transacted in the building by means of a post office on wheels. In the various departments the different parts of the clock are made and polished, then they are sent to the assembling room where they are fitted together. Every clock must stand three tests, which are: the hair spring test, where the clock is checked with one which has kept correct time, the twenty-four hour test and the seven-day test.

All material used in the manufacture of clocks is kept in the stock department where the number and weight of each article is recorded. Rigid economy is practiced by the company, sending the waste steel to the steel works where it is reused and the waste copper is sold to junk dealers.

The shipping department is one of the most important departments because here the clocks are packed in boxes and by means of descending rollers are conveyed to the freight cars five stories below the packing rooms. The clocks are shipped to all parts of the United States and to many of the foreign countries.

On behalf of the high school, we wish to express our sincere thanks to those who made it possible for us to visit one of the largest clock factories in the world and we feel sure their efforts were not made in vain. Also the workers at the clock factory who so generously offered the guides to show us through the plant.

Plan Program to Save Backyard Playgrounds for Young of America

Chicago—A program which aims to save the grass-carpeted back yard, with its sand-pile playground, as a national institution in America, through more extensive home ownership, has been worked out by the "Own Your Home" committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. A schedule of expositions arranged for 1924 already includes 18 cities scattered from coast to coast, and the board is working for additional exhibits.

"Our aim is merely to show the country how home ownership is possible for virtually every citizen," said Bartholomew O'Toole, chairman of the committee. "Few people realize how many agencies are waiting to help the tenant in his move to become his own landlord. Through the national circuit of Home Expositions in 1924, we hope to present these matters personally to at least 5,000,000 people. Cooperating in the effort are 47 national organizations such as financial associations, architectural groups, equipment manufacturers' clubs, etc. All of these groups have some service to offer the aspiring home owner."

Coordination of local dates in the various cities so that the exhibitions might be organized into a national circuit comparable with the circus route, thus to permit the movement of exhibits from one city to another through the season, was the first task undertaken by the national board's committee. In addition, an advisory service for local committees has been established at the Chicago headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Sondgeroth are in Sterling for a week where Tony is seeking employment for the winter. Jacob Kessel was another of our unfortunate farmers who contracted cholera among his hogs. Jake retired at night having 40 head of hogs and awoke in the morning to find 38 of them dead.

America's Favorite Songs

JUNITA

Styles of love making change with the generations, as do the songs which reflect them. Young lovers of today who listen to the plaintive ballads beloved by their fathers and mothers come to the conclusion that there must have been little humor in courtship of those days.

"Junita," by Mrs. Caroline Norton, is characteristic of the wistful love songs of that time. Mrs. Norton was born Caroline Elizabeth Sarah Sheridan, daughter of Thomas Sheridan, whose father was Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the famous Irish wit and playwright.

Unhappy
At the age of 18 Caroline married Honorable George Chapple Norton, but her life proved so unhappy that she separated from him. She devoted herself to writing, and much of her inspiration was drawn from her sympathy with suffering in any form.

While the words of "Junita" were written by a British woman and supposedly adapted to a Spanish air, the history of the song has been so distinctly American as to justify a belief that the music was molded in this country, if not actually written here.

Mrs. Norton married Sir William Sterling Maxwell in 1877 and three months later she died.

Soft o'er the fountain,
Ling'ring falls the southern moon;
Far o'er the mountain,
Breaks the day too soon!
In thy dark eyes' splendor,
Where the warm light loves to dwell,
Weary looks yet tender,
Speak their fond farewell.

Nita! Junita!
Ask thy soul if we should part!
Nita! Junita!
Lean thou on my heart.

When in thy dreaming
Moons like these shall shine again,
And daylight beaming
Prove thy dreams are vain,
Wilt thou not, relenting,
For thine absent lover sigh?
In thy heart consenting
To a prayer gone by?

Nita! Junita!
Let me linger by thy side!
Nita! Junita!
Be my own Fair Bride.

No. 4—Correct Position

BY ARTHUR MURRAY

Director, National Institute of Social Dancing.

The Correct Dancing Position.

Stand erect. Be natural as well as comfortable, and not too close to your partner, yet not too far away. At all times, move easily and smoothly. The lady rests her left hand lightly at the back of the man's shoulder. Her right hand is extended to the side. The arm is not held stiffly, but is bent to form a graceful curve.

The man holds his arms fairly high. Hold your partner firmly, especially with the right arm and hand. Let the lady feel the pressure of your hand at her back (under the shoulder blade, above the waist line).

The lady has more confidence in you if you hold her firmly. The left arm is bent at the elbow. In the beginning, dance on the toes and balls of the feet. Do not let the heels touch the floor.

No Fancy Holds.

Do not curl your arm under that of your partner. Fancy holds are out of date.

To look well while dancing, make yourself tall; hold your head up high, chin in, and chest out. Dance as though your body were floating through the air. Keep your heels off the floor as much as possible. Keep your legs close together; do not spread them apart.

Hold your partner directly in front of you, and not to one side. When you walk forward, step directly toward your partner as though you were trying to step on your partner's feet. Do not try to avoid your partner's feet when going forward.

So-called stiffness is of two kinds. People are often referred to as "stiff" because their muscles are tense.

Have you ever driven an automobile? If so, you remember that when you first learned to shift gears you would stiffen up, your muscles would become taut, and you could almost feel yourself in a nervous tension. It is the same with dancers when they first start out to dance.

Because the beginner is not yet sure of himself, his muscles stiffen up. By practice, this stiffness will pass away and when the dancer knows the steps, ease and grace will come.

Practice Steps.
The second kind of stiffness is the result of inexperience. The person who does not know the steps and has not trained the muscles of his feet to dance with ease cannot be anything but "stiff." The muscles of a person's body are stiff until they are loosened up by the proper training.

ARTHUR MURRAY AND AILEEN MEEHAN DEMONSTRATE THE CORRECT POSITION IN DANCING: ERECT POIS HAND NOT TOO CLOSE TO PARTNER.

ing. The ballet dancer, even the one who dances as light as a fairy, is stiff when she attempts ballroom dancing if she is not thoroughly familiar with the newest ballroom steps. Each step brings into play different muscles. To become rid of stiffness, one has but to learn to dance the steps and when proficient, ease will take the place of rigidity.

Ballroom Conduct is discussed by Mr. Murray in his next article.

WASHINGTON
BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Gratitude is not dead, bread cast upon the waters does return. For instance:

A dignified southern gentleman, now in Washington, driving up the alley to his garage the other evening found a fellow-autocrat in trouble. That the man in distress was colored made no difference to our southern Samaritan. It was enough that his engine wouldn't start. So he proffered his services.

Together they traced through the trouble, fixed it and got the car going.

The colored driver, profusely grateful, but with a slightly apologetic even hesitant manner, inquired:

"Boss, does yo' ever take a 'B' drink?"

"Well, I have been known to."

"Well, boss, I sure am obliged to yo'. I was just tartin' out to make a few deliveries, and I sure would be proud if yo'd 'cept a little bottle o' corn likker, wif my compliments. An' any time yo' happens to want mo'—"

Gratitude? Now the Samaritan's friends keep careful watch up alleys in the hope of themselves spying a stalled auto with a grateful driver.

Practicing what one preaches is nowhere more difficult than in public life. But in Brig. Gen. Herbert M. Lord, director of Uncle Sam's budget, Washington presents one man who does it.

Lord not only keeps the budget for the government he keeps a personal one for his own domestic establishment. An outline of a proper domestic budget system, Lord says, might run about like this:

First deduct from the annual salary 10 per cent for savings, plus an amount sufficient to cover income tax payments. (You see, Lord can't forget that Uncle Sam simply must have his.)

Divide the balance into five equal parts for food, shelter, clothing, operating expenses and development. Apportion these over the year—and keep within them every week.

"Operating expenses" covers such items as fuel and lighting, servants, water, repairs and furnishings. "Development" includes church contributions, benevolences, club dues, medical bills, entertainment, etc.

To make the capital safe for Congress, Washington wants more women on its police force. They can best cope with the social situations that undermine morals in all large capitals. It is contended.

But getting men is a snap compared with landing women eligible for Washington's force. A simple test in writing, spelling, arithmetic and physique turns the trick for the male applicant.

1—Graduated from a four-year course of a standard high school, or—

2—Completed at least 14 college entrance units of study, or—

3—Graduated from a recognized school for trained nurses, requiring at least two years' hospital residence.

Besides, she must show at least two years' experience in systematic social service or educational work or in commercial work involving public contacts.

The reason for the difference, it is explained, is that the work of police-women is not straight patrol duty, as is that of the men, but is essentially one of social service, requiring special qualifications.

Mistaken Identity Defense of Men Held for Flogging Woman

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 22—Plans of mistaken identity in the cases of at least four of the six men charged in indictments issued yesterday by the grand jury with rioting and assault and battery in connection with the alleged flogging by six masked men of Mrs. Bertha Holcombe, 22, of Smyrna, Ga., and B. H. Norton, a traveling salesman at Atlanta, near Smyrna Friday night, will be entered, it is developed today.

Keller Hasty, member of the pitching staff of the Philadelphia American League baseball club and Frank and Arthur Hasty, his brothers, indicted, will submit sworn statements that they were in Marietta, Ga., at the time of the floggings, it was announced.

Tom Black, the fourth man indicted, announced he was at work in Atlanta Friday night.

Price of Turkeys to Be Lower This Year

Chicago, Nov. 22—House wives will find their Thanksgiving turkey cheaper this year, market observers predict. They look for a price of from 42 to 45c a pound which is 8 or 9 cents under last year. Ducks are reported to be selling at retail for 28 to 30 cents a pound, geese at 25c and chickens around 23 cents.

BIG CROP THIS YEAR

Washington, Nov. 22—Department of Agriculture reports made public today show that in addition to cold-storage stocks of 5,000,000 pounds carried over from last year the new crop of turkeys is exceptionally heavy in Texas and large in Maryland and Virginia while turkeys are being raised in considerable numbers for the first time in many northern sections. Texas growers are getting only 18 to 20 cent a pound for turkeys, the report said, and some are holding stocks for the Christmas trade.

Great Britain in 1922 had 22,042,520 gross tons of shipping, 5,000,000 more than its nearest rival, the United States.
